How to Place a Sell Order on LibreDEX

1. Log into your accounts on LibreDEX as shown in this How-To.

4	VMPX	$2,591.49	$0.0561	217	-0.00%	53	6,138	$6,094,205

If you have questions about the general layout of the DEX please review this page of our Docs section.

3. Below "Orderbook" in the top left you can select the dropdown arrow to reveal all of the BRC20 tokens available for trading on LibreDEX. In order to input a Sell order for a BRC20 you will need to select one that you own some of.

VMPX is being selected for this example with 200 tokens available.

4. When selling tokens on the LibreDEX you need to decide if you want to sell your tokens for a fixed price in sats regardless of what buyers are offering, or if you want to sell your tokens for whatever price the current buyers are willing to pay.

If selling at whatever price buyers are willing to pay, the easiest way to populate the Amount and Price fields is to click on one of the green numbers in the order book indicating the various price levels.

Sell VMPX

7. If acceptable, select "Sell VMPX". Once this happens a signing window will pop up to sign for the transaction with your Libre account. This presentation was completed on a PC with the Anchor wallet installed.

8. Once the transaction is signed it will be instantly executed. Your LibreDEX UI and Libre wallet will update accordingly with less token AVAIL, and more Sats AVAIL. The Trade History is also now updated with that sale transaction.

Sell Order Form:

- Amount: 0 (with a dropdown for VMPX)
- Price: 0 (with a dropdown for SATS)
- Total: $0

- Action: Sell VMPX

12. You can Cancel your sell order at any time by finding the offer in the Open Orders section of the UI and selecting “Cancel”. You will be prompted to sign for the transaction with your Libre account wallet. Once completed, the tokens will immediately be returned to your wallet as liquid
